What our members say about MPLA...

"Friends, connections, a sense of place and purpose, opportunities for growth, and that indefinable bond that blossoms among people who work, share, and care together --- all these are part of the MPLA community."

Wayne Hanway, Executive Director, Southeastern Public Library System, McAlester, OK

"I appreciate the wealth of information, support and general good feeling that MPLA offers."

Annie Epperson, Instruction Librarian, Michener Library, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, CO

"MPLA is a welcoming, inclusive organization that provides wonderful professional development and networking opportunities for new librarians and for those of us who have been in the profession for many years!"

Joan Hubbard, Library Director, Weber State University, Ogden UT

Mountain Plains Library Association

One Community!

Would you like the opportunity to learn and network with librarians, library paraprofessionals, and friends of libraries across a twelve-state region? MPLA is the organization for you!!!

As a member of MPLA you will have the opportunity to develop yourself and your library through active programs, education, and networking. The annual conference is held jointly with state library associations on a rotating basis in our member states. You will have the opportunity to participate an active E-Community. We welcome your contributions as a member of our Association.

Who are MPLA Members?

We're a diverse group, with members representing public, K-12, academic, and special libraries. Our members have experience in public services, outreach, cataloging and metadata, technology, reader services, the Web, fundraising, administration, and more. Our diversity is our strength—we can provide unique viewpoints and strong programs across library and geographic boundaries.
